

THOUSANDS VIEWED CEREMONY

MAKING THE COMPLETION OF THE C. N. R.

Unfavorable Weather did not Prevent the Jubilation—Lieut.-Governor Drove the Silver Spike—Speeches by Public Men—Reply by Vice-Pres. Mann

In the presence of thousands of citizens of Edmonton, and visitors from all parts of central Alberta, Hon. G. F. V. Bulyea, first Lieutenant-Governor of the Province of Alberta, at 2:15 yesterday afternoon, drove home with unerring hand the silver spike which held in place the first rail of the Canadian Northern Railway to reach the station in Edmonton.

The advent of a transcontinental railway to the city which is the distributing point for great stretches of land to the north, whose railway facilities have been limited, and whose people have waited long and patiently for a railway which would place them in direct and immediate connection with the commercial centres of the east; such a railway was certainly worthy the most hearty and enthusiastic reception.

DRIVING THE SPIKE.

The afternoon was proclaimed a public holiday, all business places were closed, and in spite of the disagreeable weather when prevailed, almost the entire population of the city turned out to the station grounds. Long before the appointed hour the station platform was packed, and every vantage point of outlook secured. Shortly before two o'clock the Lieutenant-Governor, accompanied by Mayor McKenzie and the city aldermen, C. N. R. officials and civic authorities from other Alberta municipalities, took up a position on the grade opposite the door of the main waiting room and awaited the coming of the steel.

In the meantime the steel-laying machine and train, crowded with eager spectators, slowly made its way towards the group at the station. At 2:15 the steel-layers carried the last rail and placed it on the tie at the feet of the distinguished group, when Lieut.-Gov. Bulyea proceeded to fasten it in place with the silver spike, amidst the cheers of the crowds and the tolling of whistles.

MAYOR MCKENZIE

Mayor McKenzie then mounted the platform, called for order, and addressed the assembled crowds. He said it had often been the pleasure of the city to welcome various officials of the C. N. R. but this was the first day they were able to welcome the Canadian Northern Railway itself. The past year had been a history-making year for Edmonton. It was just a year ago that Edmonton was incorporated as a city. Since then it had become the capital of the new province of Alberta. He congratulated the company upon the unequalled success of their great enterprise.

LIEUT.-GOV. BULYEA

His Worship then called upon His Honor Lieutenant-Governor Bulyea. Mr. Bulyea said he had great pleasure in congratulating the officials of the C. N. R. upon their enterprise and industry. It had been a serious undertaking, he said, to drive the silver spike, and he had trembled as he performed the ceremony. There were others who had held the spike for him, who trembled a good deal more. It was a great occasion they were celebrating today. The entrance of the C. N. R. would more closely connect Edmonton with the commercial centres of the east. A good many could recall the old days of the Red River cart, in which the trip from Winnipeg to Edmonton took some three months to make. The trip was now made over the C. N. R. in twenty-eight hours. One railway, even two railways were not enough to supply the needs and demands of this growing western country. Until there was a network of railways throughout the west there would always be room for enterprises such as Messrs. McKenzie and Mann had just completed. He hoped that this railway would prove as profitable to the company as it would for this section of the country.

MINISTER OF THE INTERIOR

His Worship then called for Hon. Frank Oliver, Minister of the Interior. As the Hon. gentleman made his appearance by the side of Mr. McKenzie, a great cheer arose from the crowd. Mr. Oliver said they were all extremely glad to see the Canadian Northern enter the city today, after having waited so long for it, and he would like to call for three cheers for Dan Mann and Wm. McKenzie, the promoters of this great enterprise. The cheers were heartily given. This was a time, Mr. Oliver continued, for deeds, not words. The railway was a Canadian railway, and the company that built it a Canadian company. The land which would be developed by the C. N. R. was the richest agricultural country still unsettled in the world. The railway would benefit not only the company, but every citizen of Alberta, although the company no doubt had an eye to No. 1, in the building of it. The people were all proud of the railway and the company, and wished them luck. The speaker was glad to see that prominent citizens were present from various towns between Calgary and Edmonton. The railway would benefit every part of the Territories. This ceremony, however, meant something more than the mere building of a railroad. It meant the policy of this country was railroad competition and development. Workmen in every sphere of labor would reap benefits from this railway. In conclusion Hon. Mr. Oliver again called for three cheers for the Canadian Northern Railway.

HON. C. W. CROSS

Hon. C. W. Cross, Attorney-General for Alberta was greeted with hearty applause as he stepped forward to speak. He regretted the fact that Premier Rutherford was unable to be here to represent the Government of Alberta. The introduction of the railway meant a great deal to the city, and also for every man, woman and child in the province. He was in a different position to Mr. Oliver who had come to this country before the Canadian northern was ever known. He had come here some six or seven years ago, because the Canadian Northern had promised to build to Edmonton, and they had made good their promise. He wished to congratulate the company on their success.

VICE-PRES. MANN

The last speaker was Daniel D. Mann, Vice-President of the Canadian Northern Railway, and the man of the hour. Following is his address in full: Mr. Mayor, Your Honor, The Lieutenant-Governor and Gentlemen—I thank you for the kind reception you have given our guests, the officials of the road, and myself, on the completion of our railway to the capital of Alberta. Mr. Mayor I wish to thank His Honor, the Lieut.-Governor, for officiating on this occasion by driving the last spike in completion of our railway, connecting by rail the capital of Alberta with the great centres of the west.

Other railways will come and, no doubt you will welcome them as you have welcomed us, but it is a great satisfaction to us that we are the pioneer road. Twenty-six years ago I was present at the celebration in Winnipeg when the first engine crossed the Red River on the ice bridge. I was also present at the beginning and finish of nearly all the railways in this Western country, but the completion of this road into Edmonton today is the most important event in my railway career. We are just as proud and glad to be here as you are to have the road to Edmonton.

We have built a first class road with splendid grades—grades of 26 feet to the mile from the foot-hills of the Rocky Mountains to Lake Superior. We have under completion the finest passenger equipment that it was possible to buy in America. This is being delivered at the present time and we will give you a tri-weekly service until June when you will have a daily service consisting of sleeping cars, dining cars and day coaches lighted throughout with acetylene gas and equal to the best on the continent of America.

We have 800 miles of railway in the old provinces, 300 miles of which is main line, and we intend to connect our eastern system in order that passengers taking a sleeping car at Edmonton, can go through to the great centres at the east without change of cars. I hope the next celebration we will have on the Canadian Northern will be an inauguration of the through line from Edmonton to the coast.

Mr. Mayor and Gentlemen, I thank you on behalf of my associates and officials of the Canadian Northern Railway for the kind manner in which you have received our guests and ourselves on this, the occasion of the completion of our railway into the capital of Alberta.

"This address concluded the formalities of the occasion. The steel gang resumed work and hundreds of spectators during the afternoon followed their movements with a feeling not alone of curiosity but of interest.

THE MEN WHO BUILT THE ROAD

The various officials and crew of the construction train were R. J. MacKenzie, general manager of construction on the western branches; M. E. Doherty, engineer, Winnipeg; J. Bowen, foreman, Henry Noble, conductor; B. Goodfellow, and Allen Steen, brakemen; Clarke Shaw, Battelford; J. B. McLean, timekeeper; J. Wark, foreman; D. Campbell, superintendent; C. W. Wellman, foreman of teams and ties; T. Bell, foreman of bridge work, and J. D. McLean, paymaster. There were over three hundred men employed on the tracks and the total cost of the road, each day amounted to something like $300.

THE SAFETY OF INSURANCE

(Montreal Witness)

We print today an article from the "Spectator," an insurance paper of New York, which says what seems to need to be said at the present time. It deals in a general way with two ideas that have sprung out of the exposures that are now going on. The first is that the enormous advantages accruing to the directors and their friends under the management which has been prevalent in several of the larger companies has robbed the policy-holders to an extent that renders the premiums much higher than they need to be. This is quite a mistake. The premiums are the result of the finest mathematical calculation of the doctrine of averages and provide reserves against losses which the government requires to be abundant. Competition between the companies, which is very keen, indeed, secures that the premiums shall be as closely calculated as the conditions of safe preserves admit. The only thing the directors can manipulate, is the profits, which are a variable amount, dependent on more or less capable investments. The other point is that the system of canvassing for life insurance, with its costly concomitants of advertising, fine buildings, etc., must add a great deal to the premiums. There is more in this than in the other theory. It is generally understood that the first premium on every policy is about swallowed up in this way. How much better it would be, then, if all this canvassing system were abolished! Yet this article shows that the highest premiums are charged, and presumably have to be, by the companies which do not canvass, and the lowest by those which canvass most. This is easily accounted for by the fact that the practice of life insurance is one that, without much prompting, the majority of men would neglect until something admonished them of the uncertainty of life. The canvassing system naturally directs its energies toward the good lives, while the non-canvassing system tends to gather in the bad ones. This contrast would, no doubt, be modified if the canvassing system were abolished by all the companies. But, unless some other inducement to general insurance took the place of the canvassing system, it would remain true that the selection of lives would be worse under purely voluntary conditions. It appears, therefore, that the far from increasing the general cost of insurance, the active canvassing system actually diminishes it, by improving the rate of mortality.

To return to the question of manipulating the profits: this can be done, as has been seen, in many ways. Subscriptions to party funds and to lobbying funds can be left out of the question, as whatever may be thought of efforts to protect the policy-holders' interests in such ways, the whole expenditure does not amount to a fly-bite. A fly-bite may be heinous and cause immense irritation, but its amount is very small indeed. More serious is the waste through enormous salaries and bogus fees, and more serious still the manipulation of the investments by companies and by other means. The development of trust companies in connection with insurance is largely due to the legal limitation put on the forms of investment, and where there are severe and perhaps unnecessary legal limitations the temptation to directors of life companies to evade them is often very great when investments are offered to them that are perfectly safe, and perhaps unusually profitable, but yet outside the strict letter of the law. When such investments are made indirectly, or say through a trust company in which the life company owns stock, or in which it makes deposits, it can easily be seen that there is a danger that the policy-holders may not receive the full benefit from the investment, as they would have done had it been possible for the life company to make the investment itself. Unwise restriction on the investment powers may therefore be a prime factor in introducing a system from which great abuses may result, as has already been but too clearly shown.

For example, there is a business proposition which has all possible elements of certainty. It can pay interest on the bonds it proposes to issue, but the stock represents the profit, which bid fair to be enormous. This profit properly belongs to whoever has the millions necessary to finance the enterprise. The insurance company has these anxious for investment. If it is shut up to bonds at four or five per cent., who is to have the profits? If the company is forbidden to hold the stock, its directors may form a company and make the investment and sell the bonds to the insurance company, and thus get perhaps a hundred per cent. on the whole investment for themselves. The right thing for the company to do under such circumstances would be to throw the stock into the vaults and not let it appear in its assets until it became a dividend-paying security. That would be honest treatment of the policy-holders. But the temptation is obvious, to do the other thing, and no insurance inspector would have any right to question what became of that stock. The directors would get rich and nobody would know it. There was a proposal at the last session of parliament to forbid insurance companies holding stock in trust companies. Instead of mending matters this would make them decidedly worse. It is not necessary to go through the form of a trust company in order to work the proceeds of such a stock into the hands of the directors, if they are so minded. On the other hand there would clearly be no wrong to the policy-holders in the intervention of a trust company provided that they owned the stock of the trust company and all the profits fell to them. To forbid them to own the stock is to hand it over by law to others and prevent them getting the profits. In practice, however, a trust company could not be owned entirely by any one life office. To enjoy the highest degree of success, a trust company requires to have connection with many corporations, and this can only be arranged by having either these corporations or persons connected with them associated with the trust company as shareholders, and possibly directors. The profit on the investments of which we have been speaking would therefore of necessity be divided with others, and largely lost to the policy-holders of the life company.

The right way to take the temptation to make such arrangements would seem to be to remove all merely artificial restrictions upon investments being made frankly by the companies in their own name, and thus create no legislative cause or excuse for deflecting the profits which rightly belong to the policy-holders. Would this or would it not lower the standard of safety? We think with due publicity it would for reasons suggested, tend the other way. There are many investments open to the companies controlling large amounts of money which are absolutely safe, and yet have possibilities of large profits. In other words the bonds of which we have been speaking may be equal to, or even, superior to those that are usually bought by the conservative public without any stock being thrown in. The addition of the stock does not lessen the value of the bond. The only difference is that such stock usually finds its resting place in the pockets of the banking houses or middle men, who have thereby grown rich. Why should not life companies as large investors be at liberty to cut the middleman out and make the best bargains they can on behalf of their policy-holders? Any law which prevents this is apt to have far-reaching and very injurious effects. The best protection for the public apart from the honor of the directors as trustees is the fullest publicity of all transactions. In fact the principle of publicity should rule in connection with all joint stock companies whatever. Joint stock companies are creations of legislation. They are supposed to be created entirely for the public good, and the public has therefore a right to know all about them.

BANQUETTED THE OFFICIALS

AND OTHER DISTINGUISHED VISITORS

Gathering of Prominent Albertans Exchanged Felicitations with the Railway Men.

The civic banquet tendered the C. N. R. officials last evening, in the dining room of the Queen's Hotel was a fitting climax to the events of the day, and was an affair unsurpassed, both in the excellence of the repast and in the entertainment otherwise provided. Upwards of two hundred guests were present, and music was supplied by Irving's orchestra in most satisfactory manner.

Mayor McKenzie as chairman occupied a seat at the head of the hall. On his right was D. D. Mann, vice-president of the C. N. R., and on his left was Hon. Frank Oliver, Minister of the Interior. Others present at this table were A. W. McKenzie, R. J. McKenzie, Col. J. A. L. John, and Geo. H. Shaw and others. To the left and farther down the hall was Ex-Mayor Wm. Short, vice-chairman, with W. T. Finlay, Minister of Agriculture, on his right and L. F. Muncey of the C. N. R. on his left. At this table also were Hon. C. W. Cross, Attorney-General, O. M. Biggar, A. C. Fraser, and many other prominent citizens.

THE TOAST LIST

When the abundance of good things had been done full justice to Mayor McKenzie rose to acknowledge the first toast. He had great pleasure in welcoming the officials of the new transcontinental railway. He also had great pleasure in proposing the health of His Majesty King Edward VII. The toast was heartily responded to with cheers and the national anthem.

HOUSES OF PARLIAMENT

His Worship then asked Mr. Short, the vice-chairman, to propose the next toast, that of the Houses of Parliament. Mr. Short proposed the toast and called upon Hon. F. Oliver to respond.

Mr. Oliver rose amid loud applause. He saw upon the program, he said, that this was the last banquet in honor of the advent of the C. N. R. He thanked the guests for the kind way in which he had received his name. He wished to do his small part in honoring this occasion. The enterprise completed today was one of far-reaching consequence, one who had lived here long knew how important it was to the city. But that was a small part of the importance of the enterprise. The advent of the C. N. R. to Edmonton showing that it was possible to push to completion the small plan. The plan was evidence to the world that we had entered upon an era of railway competition and development. The entrance of the railway would put Alberta on her feet. We had always had climate and resources, but our situation had been against us. The advent of the railway ended this. Nearly one thousand miles of track had been built, and the speaker was proud of our position. He had been asked to give to the C. N. R. and Messrs. Mackenzie and Mann were deserving of every credit for their enterprise.

A solo was then sung by J. Hanby, entitled, "The Kerry Dance," and he was cheered again and again, after which he sang an encore "Bonny Mary of Argyll."

THE CANADIAN NORTHERN

Mayor McKenzie then proposed the toast to the Canadian Northern Railway, and asked D. D. Mann, vice-president of the road, to respond. Mr. Mann spoke as follows:

Mr. Mayor and Gentlemen: I wish to thank you for this splendid manner in which you have entertained our guests and officials of the road.

Our road is in the unique position of being the only railway in the capital of the new province of Alberta. We have, in fact, two lines of railway built into Edmonton at the present time and have other roads under construction. The fact of these roads being built makes Edmonton a railway centre. Other railways will come and help make Edmonton a great railway centre and, no doubt, you will welcome them as you have welcomed us, but the same thing it is a great satisfaction to us that we are the pioneer road, and we are just as proud to be here as you are to have us here with you.

We have built a fine line with splendid grades. Our engineers have succeeded in securing grades from the foothills of the Rocky Mountains to Fort William and Port Arthur on Lake Superior—a distance of 1265 miles of 28 feet to the mile. The physical condition of the road is first class in every way and will enable the operation department to operate the road to your satisfaction and to ours.

We intend to inaugurate a tri-weekly service. We have ordered eight new, solid passenger trains, equal to the best on the continent of America. This equipment, consisting of sleeping cars, dining cars and day coaches, and lighted throughout with acetylene gas, is equal to the best and most modern equipment on this continent. You will have the satisfaction of having a beautiful, first-class train arriving at and leaving your station daily, and equal to the finest trains entering the largest cities in the United States and Canada.

The country tributary to the Canadian Northern Railway for nearly one thousand miles is largely in the fertile valley of the great Saskatchewan River and is, in my opinion, the most fertile and most productive country tributary to any line of equal distance in the world. It is nearly all within the grain belt, where there is abundance of natural rain fall and where from 80 to 90 per cent. of the land will produce wheat. Every station, with the possible exception of two, where the road passes between the Duck and Riding Mountains, will be a grain receiving station. This country which I have described and which is tributary to our lines of railway, will, I feel sure, produce as much wheat as Professor Mann stated the whole Northwest would produce, if 5 or 6 per cent. of the arable land is under cultivation. In this country, one acre produces 100,000 bushels of wheat this year. I predict that, when this country is fairly well settled it will produce ten times that quantity, or other words, 1,000,000 bushels of wheat.

Gentlemen, you are indebted to the Minister of the Interior, and to the members of Parliament of this western country who urged the government to assist us in building this great road from Lake Superior to the capital of Alberta. They have guaranteed the bonds of our road, when we needed financial aid the most, to secure money at a low rate of interest. They have shown that they showed good judgment as to the fact of the government guaranteeing the bonds will never cost the country a penny.

With regard to our plans. We intend to connect our western system with our eastern system. We have 800 miles of railway in the older provinces, 300 miles of which is main line, and I hope that the next great celebration will be when we inaugurate a train service from Edmonton to the Atlantic Ocean.

At the conclusion of Mr. Mann's speech, there was a duet by Messrs. Howard Stuehring and J. Hanby, entitled "Excelsior." Encored they sang "The Army and Navy."

Vice-Chairman, Short, then proposed the toast to the province of Alberta and called upon Hon. C. W. Cross, and Government to respond.

Mr. Cross, speaking first said, that that Mr. Mann had said that the C. N. R. would be the only railway to enter the capital. In coming to Edmonton they were reaching the very centre of the province, and there were still 400 miles to the north, on them in which to build railways. The advent of the railway was a great thing for the city, but it was a greater thing for Alberta. He wished to be a member of the Government that the C. N. R. should meet with every success in their enterprise.

Hon. Mr. Finlay said the enterprise of Messrs. Mackenzie and Mann was a good thing for Canada. We had to look beyond Canada for settlers for our country and in the development of the province the new road would be an important part.

Howard Stuehring then rendered the solo "Bambolero," and for an encore sang "Bambolero."

SISTER TOWNS AND CITIES

Mayor McKenzie then proposed the toast of sister towns and cities, which was responded to by J. A. L. John, Winnipeg, Mayor Emerson, Calgary; Mayor McInnes, Red Deer; Mayor McLeod, Medicine Hat; Mayor Dabney, Calgary; Mayor M.P. for south, Watford; Mayor McGillivray, Ponoka; Mr. West, Innisfail; Mr. Bremner, Clover Bar; and Mayor Craig, Olds.

The toast of trade and commerce, proposed by Vice-Chairman Short, was responded to by Geo. H. Shaw, freight agent, who said that the policy of the Dominion Government was the best to secure settlement of the country. He also thought that the Union Jack should fly every day on every school house in the land. Children, no matter what nationality, if brought up in the British flag, would become true and loyal Canadians. Col. Davidson also responded to this toast.

THE PRESIDENT

Mayor McKenzie then asked that all drink to the health of Wm. McKenzie, who was present with them, R. J. McKenzie and Alex. McKenzie, respectively in a few words.

The gathering then broke up after singing the national anthem.

MUNICIPAL UNION

First Step Taken Yesterday Toward Forming a Municipal Union

A representative meeting of the municipal officials of a large number of the towns of Alberta, was held at the city hall yesterday at the invitation of the vice-president of the Canadian Union of Municipalities, Mayor Emerson of Calgary.

The opportunity of so many representatives being present in the city, yesterday as guests of the C.N.R. and the city of Edmonton was taken advantage of to take an initiative step in the forming of a Union for Alberta municipalities.

Moved by Mayor Michener of Red Deer, seconded by Ald. Thomas of Calgary that as Mayor Emerson had taken steps to call this meeting together he be asked to take the chair.

Moved by Mr. Gillis of Calgary, seconded by Mr. Burris of Lacombe that Mayor Michener of Red Deer act as Secretary.

Mayor Emerson then explained the object of calling the meeting, in introducing the question of Municipal Union for Alberta he referred to the great advantage to be derived therefrom, citing the work done by the Canadian Union and the desirability for the united efforts on the part of the municipalities in discussing such questions as the uniformity of assessment, the protecting of municipalities from encroachments of their rights by corporations or promoters, the promotion of legislation generally on sound principles, the case of persons who become chargeable to municipalities, etc. The desirability of organization was supported by the following gentlemen: Mayor Michener of Red Deer, Mr. Puffer, M.P., of Lacombe, Mayor McLeod of Lacombe, and Aldermen Logan of Olds, Thomas of Calgary, May of Edmonton and Commissioners Kinnear and Hargroves of Edmonton.

A resolution was moved by J. D. Skinner of Lacombe, seconded by Mr. Gillis of Calgary that in the opinion of this meeting a union should be formed of the towns and municipalities within the province of Alberta and that a committee be now formed to make the necessary arrangements for the effecting of such an organization.

Moved by Alderman May seconded by Mr. Gillis that Mayor Emerson of Calgary, Mayor Michener of Red Deer and Alderman Thomas of Calgary be an executive committee to arrange for a convention of the municipalities of the province of Alberta.

Moved by Councillor Swoboda of Wetaskwin, seconded by Councillor Hodge that we take this opportunity of expressing our thanks to the city of Edmonton for their courtesies, during our stay at Edmonton. A motion was also carried to tender a vote of thanks to the chairman and secretary of the meeting.

THE OPERA.

The Rosclans scored another success last evening, when they presented "The Mikado" to a well-filled house. The opera introduced more comedy than some of the preceding bills and the entertainment provided was amply testified by the frequent applause. The costumes were exceptionally pretty and the choruses and dancing of the group of Japanese maidens was very popular with the audience. Claude Amisen as the Lord High Executioner had a splendid opportunity for his laughter-creating powers and none of the chances were missed. Miss Davenport and Messrs. Leslie and Dewey also had parts affording plenty of comedy and when the plot began to work out in the second scene the audience were kept in continuous laughter. Tonight "The Telephone Girl" will be presented. This is said to be one of the most entertaining bills on the repertoire and will doubtless draw a good house. The company conclude their engagement tonight.

JAP KOREAN AGREEMENT

Soul Nov. 20.—The conference of nearly a week between the Japanese envoys headed by Marquis Ito and the Korean cabinet ended yesterday, and was followed early this morning by a nine-hour sitting at the palace with the Emperor. At the beginning of today's session Baron Hayashi declared his determination not to withdraw until the four demands made by Marquis Ito were signed. The session was ended at 1.30 o'clock this morning when the cabinet, with the exception of the Minister of Agriculture and Minister of Foreign Affairs Pakchisun, having yielded, sent for the imperial seals and signed the desired agreement. The four Japanese demands were as follows:

1. The appointment of a Japanese administrator to govern Korea under the emperor.
2. The appointment of a Japanese administrator at all treaty ports.
3. The transfer of Korean diplomatic affairs to Tokyo.
4. No arrangements to be made with other powers without the consent of Japan.

Three thousand Japanese soldiers maintained a demonstration all yesterday on the esplanade before the old palace. Japanese troops patrolled the streets all night. The emperor's palace was also surrounded by troops and Japanese soldiers and police were lodged in the grounds of the palace. Minister Pakchisun and the Minister of Agriculture continued to hold out with the Emperor against the action of the Japanese. Minister Pakchisun, in leading the opposition against the demands of Marquis Ito, adjured the emperor with the most powerful argument possible to a superstitious, frightened sovereign, namely, that his consent would offend and outrage all the spirits of his imperial ancestors. After the refusal of the emperor to return the first visit of Marquis Ito, the marquis remained in the background. The conference between Baron Hayashi and the Korean cabinet which led to an agreement, began yesterday morning at the Japanese legation and was so violent as to attract attention on adjacent streets. It resulted in Pakchisun and the minister of agriculture dramatically denouncing the proceedings and withdrawing to the palace, where they secluded themselves with the emperor. The emperor then ordered that the ministers who consented to the Japanese demands be assassinated.

After the signatures and seals were attached, the Japanese military paraded through the city. Baron Hayashi, after securing the consent of the majority of the cabinet, went to the palace, where he attempted to convince the emperor and the two remaining ministers of the justice of his mission but failed. He then secured the seals through the other ministers. The emperor took alarm at the contents and fear of Marquis Ito's credentials which they were presented to him on the 10th inst., the day after the arrival of the marquis. His alarm was increased because the Japanese sought to have the marquis occupy the emperor's audience chamber and there receive a return visit from the emperor, who resented, feeling sickness. It required five days to arrange an interview regarding the mission of Marquis Ito, and then a confidential interview was held at which the emperor referred the entire matter to his cabinet.

It is said among diplomats that the Korean ministry has secretly managed this final event in subverting Korean sovereignty, which was an inevitable sequel to the protocols of February and September, 1904. It is said that, though entitled by treaty to a dignified appeal to the good offices of America and other powers to assist in the rectification of alleged Japanese injustices, the ministers preferred flight, underhand means. It is said at the present moment that the throne has three secret agents abroad for the purpose of securing intervention. One of them is in China, the second, Yi-yongik, in France and Mr. Hurlburn is now in America.

A conflict between civil and military authorities is now expected, and Minister Hayashi has already sent a strong circular to all Japanese consuls in Korea to administer justice impartially.

After the presentation of the Mikado's gifts to the court, it is reported that substantial sums of money were used to satisfy the ministers who consented to the Japanese demands.

About 30,000 Japanese soldiers billeted on the people or in the barracks, are at the service of the Japanese, but no disturbances are expected.

Foreign officials took no part in the foregoing events, though last midnight when an alarm was spread that the Japanese might use force, it was believed that the American legation, adjoining the palace, might become a temporary refuge for the emperor, court and cabinet are still closely guarded and protected.

STOVES

will soon be needed, and no doubt they will go with a rush.

If you want a first class up to date Cast Iron Range that has been a winner for many years, we have the "Happy Thought." There is more of this Range in use than any other one Range in Canada, and no person has ever heard of a poor one. Then, if you want an all steel and malleable iron range, we have the "Monarch." You cannot break this range as it has a mirror polished top which makes it a thing of beauty to look at as well as to use.

For any up to date line of heating stoves we think we have them all beat. It is not a case of you having to take what we have, our assortment justifies us in saying you can get just what you want from us.

We have from the smallest to the largest heating stoves in any style and for any purpose, to burn both coal and wood, or both. The prices are made to suit the pockets of all, and while we make only a very small profit on each stove we think the quantity we sell justifies us in saying that we can sell on so close a margin and still hold our own. We have everything in stove trimmings, and first class M. chairs to deliver and put them up. Do not waste time in king all over the city, but come direct to us.

THOSE GOOD OLD PUMPKIN PIES

When the trees upon the hillside
 don the crimson and the gold,
 And keener brow the breezes day
 by day,
 Blowing away from the northland
 o'er the forest and the wild,
 Then to childhood's days my thoughts begin to stray.
 O'er long-forgotten pathways in the fields of long ago,
 Ere my life knew aught of sorrows
 or of sighs,
 And in fancy once again I taste the bliss I used to know
 When the time had come for making pumpkin pies.

I can see the quaint old farmhouse,
 with the hollyhocks so gay;
 Close beside it were the fields of yellow corn,
 Nodding gaily in the sunshine as it
 ripened day by day, Till at harvest time its glories all were shorn.
 Then the merry huskers gathered in the roomy old barn,
 Lads and lasses from the country
 far and near;
 And a tempting spread would follow,
 where each man his choicest feast.
 While are munched the good old-fashioned pumpkin pie.
 The crust was crisp and flaky; it was done "just to a turn,"
 And the golden filling spread with generous care.
 All the nectar and ambrosia for which heaven's gods might yearn Never with this toothsome dainty could compare.
 When the healthy youngsters gathered round the table (we were ten),
 On this wholesome fare we cast a longing eye.
 While our father asked a blessing that seemed all too lengthy when We were waiting to attack the pumpkin pie.

When the Midas touch of Autumn turns the woodland into gold,
 And the chill wind through the trees-loops seems Every zephyr breathes a melody that to me will never grow old,
 And I long for just one home-made pumpkin pie.

Faith

You cannot be expected to have faith in Shiloh's

 Cough, Croup, and all diseases of the throat, unless you have not tried it. We have faith in it, and to convince you that it will cure you we guarantee it. If it doesn't cure you you get your money back.
 If it does it costs you 25c. That's fair. Try it has cured many thousands of the most obstinate cases, and we do not hesitate to say that it will cure any Cough, Croup, Throat or Lung trouble. If we could find it were beneficial. I have two children and they had a terrible cough. I gave them everything I could think of, but they got no better until one evening my husband brought a bottle of Shiloh. We gave it to the children when they went to bed, and they slept all night. It cured them completely. I shall always keep it in the house.

Shiloh

Proof

is found in the many testimonials of those who have used Shiloh and been cured. Mrs. Annie Taylor,

LOCAL

—Mr. C. L. Carley, of Montreal, has opened a banking and brokerage business in the former custom house building on Jasper avenue.

—Macleod constituency in Alberta—Haultain's old seat—gave a Liberal majority of over 230 at the recent elections. No wonder Mr. Haultain preferred Saskatchewan—Winnipeg Free Press.

—At St. Joseph's church tomorrow Father Teta will conduct mass at 8 o'clock and at 10:30 will speak in English. Father Grandin will preach in English in the evening. There will be a meeting of the Children of Mary in the convent at 3:30 tomorrow afternoon.

—The carnival of seasons to be held in the basement of the Presbyterian church, Nov. 30th and Dec. 1, promises to be a great success. Booths are being built to represent each season. Flowers, ice cream, etc., will be found in summer; winter will be cold and bleak with a busy Santa Claus; Spring will be full of pretty things to decorate one's home after house cleaning; autumn is the friend of man and in this booth will be found the staff of life, and all good things pertaining to the latter.

SCOTT WILL SWEEP SASKATCHEWAN

Hon. Walter Scott, Saskatchewan's Premier, interviewed in Winnipeg recently concerning his government's prospects, said that he would prefer to let the ballots tell the tale. Personally he was quite confident of success for the reason that the Liberal candidates throughout the province were good men and were standing unitedly for a clear-cut definite policy, while on the other hand, the anti-Liberals could make no straight pronouncement of policy on any of the issues. The majority of the anti-Liberal candidates were dyed-in-the-wool Tories and for such men to pretend to be in favor of no-party government simply brought them into ridicule. The most of the Haultain candidates of today are such strong partisan Tories that as long as Mr. Haultain was carrying on a non-party government honestly and squarely, these men opposed him tooth and nail. In a few districts that were certain to elect Government candidates, the Conservatives have already disgruntled Liberals to take the issue as provincial rights candidates to send a show of color to the false promises made.

WHERE THE FARCE COMES IN.
"To show the utterly farcical nature of the game that is being played," said Mr. Scott, "it is only necessary to point to the fact that the alleged reason for the existence of the provincial rights party is that the Saskatchewan act deprives the province of the right to abolish the government-controlled separate schools, which either Protestant or Roman Catholic minorities in any school district under our system establish and maintain, and to the further fact that each one of the four seceding Liberals—Dunsmuir, McIntyre, Chisholm, and Benoit—holds the view that the Saskatchewan act in this respect is exactly as parliament was in duty bound to frame it, and that our separate school ought not to be abolished.

Under these circumstances Mr. Haultain is being represented in four ridings by utterly discredited candidates, which naturally has a damaging effect upon the standing of his pretence provincial rights party in general all over the province. Chisholm, Benoit and McIntyre say flatly that they stand in favor of maintaining the separate schools, and this in conjunction with Haultain's own refusal, so far, to promise to abolish the separate schools, is leading many who do not like any sort of separation in schools and who would be inclined to vote for a party which gave a pledge to abolish them, to see through the double-faced play that is being attempted.

GOOD LAND ARRANGEMENT
"Furthermore," continued Mr. Scott, "the electors of Saskatchewan, now that the whole matter is being ventilated, are confident, and recognize that in the highly important matters of the boundaries, the lands arrangement, the money subsidy and the C. P. R. tax exemption, the autonomy settlement granted the province by the Liberals at Ottawa are not only patently satisfactory but remarkably excellent. They are coming to recognize that the school question is merely a red herring—as far as the separate school goes, the only difference is that the Liberals promise to respect the constitution of Canada by preserving an excellent system of schools—and that as Mr. Haultain himself used always to say, the vital detail of autonomy is the matter of money. You know that it was the money question that was always put forward by him as the reason for withholding autonomy, and the people of Saskatchewan, now that they have time to reflect upon the money terms of the Saskatchewan act in comparison with what the 18th amendment demanded through the Haultain draft bill, and especially in comparison with the utterances of Conservatives in Parliament on this phase of autonomy, are seeing that they have every cause for gratification instead of any reason to complain. The fact is that as straight subsidy we get by Law the terms more than $300,000 or annuity over and above the sum that Haultain asked in his draft bill. This together with the splendid cash grants the province is to be paid for ever in lieu of the public lands, make the two new provinces better off financially than any other province in Canada, which fact Hon. Geo. E. Foster defended and complained against."

But the factor which in the end will outweigh all other considerations, is the now plainly-seen alliance between the C. P. R. and the Haultain party. All over Saskatchewan at this very moment the farmers are confronted with another wheat blockade, which means scores of thousands of dollars. This enforces anew the overshadowing want of Western Canada, which is more railways and competition both in service and rates. The public know that the Conservatives always stand with the C. P. R. Co. in and out of Parliament, and out of the legislatures against any measures which promise competition against the C. P. R. It hardly needed Sir J. Brownlee's effort to put agent Benoit, of Prince Albert, into Batoche as a Haultain candidate to show the public the relations between the C. P. R. and Mr. Haultain. Against Mr. Whyte's neutrality order, you say? What effect did Mr. Whyte's neutrality order carry in Alberta ten days ago?

SWITCHED TRAIN CREWS.
That this order was ignored flagrantly is undeniable. Even the gentleman who is assistant to the second vice-president of the company was one of the most prominent and active amongst Mr. Benoit's workers. The fact at Batoche and where the C. P. R. controls the vote to a degree impossible on the railroads, the conservative majority of 74 out of roundly one hundred votes. These significant facts are not lost upon the people. They know that effective measures to bring railway competition need not be looked for from a party which the company goes out of its way to aid in elections, and after what the Liberal party has done and is doing in this direction, by obtaining Canadian Northern extensions, and the coming of the Grand Trunk they did not need to be told that if effective competition is to be got at all, it is going to be got by Liberal administration. These are reasons and facts which make me look to the result of the Saskatchewan elections with confidence.

Another factor which is having effect with the electors is the class of men that Mr. Haultain is importing from the outside to instruct them how to cast their ballots. Mr. R. L. Richardson, the rejected of Brandon and of Ligar, has been out presuming to tell Saskatchewan farmers that they ought to vote for the high tariff and railway monopoly policy under a provincial rights disguise, and you have already heard something of that eminently patriotic provincial righter Mr. J. Locke Wilson, who has come all the way from Ontario because his soul burns with zeal, as a farmer, of course, for the poor Saskatchewan farmer, but whose main anxiety up to date seems to have been to attempt in a silly fashion to brand as a common man pickpocket one of the best farmers of the whole province, Mr. Motherwell, a man against whose reputation as a strictly honorable and upright man never a whisper was heard in all the twenty years or more that he has lived in the Northwest, and a man whose unselfish and invaluable work in the Grain Growers' association for the whole wheat-growing community needs no advertisement.

"For a comparative stranger in the province to think to convict a man of Mr. Motherwell's standing of petty thieving is a thing revolting to men all over Saskatchewan regardless of politics. The incident is having its effect throughout the province wherever Mr. Motherwell is known, and I do not need to tell you that he is both widely and favorably known."

"And when are you going to bring the election on?"
"Well, that is a leading question. We should have brought them on quite a while ago were it not that our farmers were too busy with threshing to be bothered with the elections. The Government is awaiting the convenience of the farmers. Excellent weather has prevailed these past two weeks or more, and as a result good progress has been made with the threshing."
